Important Happenings and Local Notes from the County Seat.

L. B. WELLMAN, Local Editor

SHRINERS AT NEWPORT.

Friday last was a red letter day for members of Mt. Sinai Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., it being the annual field day of that illustrious order. The Shriners began to arrive Thursday, and Friday morning between six and seven hundred were present. The visit had been anticipated and nearly every business place and many private residences were gaily draped with bunting, which dipped in the gentle breeze seemingly offering them a hearty welcome to this beautiful lakeside village. At 9:30 lines were formed in front of the Raymond house under command of Noble J. F. Lambert, chief Marshal, with Clare K. Powell and Fred C. Gilson as aides, as follows: Mounted nobles in charge of Noble Charles H. McCauley; Newport concert band of 40 pieces; past potentate of Mount Sinai Temple; Ill. potentate Isaac D. Bailey and officers in uniforms; representatives of Bektash Temple, Concord, N. H., and Karnac Temple, Montreal; pony team with youngest Shriners, Masters Burgess and Colodny attired in full costumes; Mt. Sinai Arab patrol in charge of Frank K. Goss; members of Mt. Sinai Temple followed by Mt. Sinai's camel, and chariot with a large number of prospective members in tow, in charge of Noble D. W. Davidson.

The line of march was up Main street to Second, up South to Third down Third to School street, retrace to Main to starting point, where the column was broken and the nobles embarked on the Lady of the Lake for Owl's Head, where the field day sports were indulged in, which consisted of games, races, contests, etc., culminating in a Rhode Island clambake prepared by Rev. J. H. Dickson of West Charleston, and assistant, and the manner in which the nobles responded to the invitation to cease work and partake of refreshments was an indication that they knew what was in store for them. It was the unanimous verdict that the clambake was of the best. At 7 o'clock the boat was again taken and after a short sail around the lake, the homeward journey was begun, arriving about eight thirty amid a shower of rockets and Roman candles. A parade line was again formed, marching to the School hall where a sumptuous banquet was held, after which a social time was indulged in until time in its flight tolled its parting hour. Then adjournment was taken. It was the expressed verdict of all members present that this was one of the best meetings of the order. The one feature of the morning's parade was the camel and the chariot, followed by the candidates, who were soon to cross the hot sands of the desert. In the chariot was Burns Gammell, who delivered a highly interesting discourse on the journey the candidates were about to take, describing in detail the many pitfalls to be avoided, the crooked paths which would allure them, advising them of the pleasant ending of the journey. This was delivered in Mr. Gammell's inimitable manner and produced merriment all along the line.
